

MEMORIAL VIGIL FOR DANIEL PEARL

Daniel Pearl (1963-2002)

One year ago this week, a gang of thugs in Karachi, Pakistan, brutally murdered Wall Street Journal reporter Daniel Pearl in the name of Islam. This act of terror was a shock to the world, not only because it showed the grim face of religious intolerance, but also because Mr. Pearl – a bright, curious young man – was the victim.

Please join us on this sombre anniversary, as we recall:

- the urgent need for confronting all forms of hate-speech and intolerance;
- Daniel Pearl's shining example as a bridge-builder among peoples;
- that as our hearts and minds are preoccupied with resolving the crisis with Iraq, we remember that Daniel Pearl, son of a Jewish refugee from Baghdad, courageously sought cross-cultural dialogue and understanding.

With tributes by Imam Khaleel Mohammed (Professor of Islamic Studies, Brandeis University), local artists, and community leaders.

This Sunday, February 23 - 5:00 p.m.

First Parish Church, Harvard Square

3 Church Street (opposite The Body Shop)

Co-sponsored by:

The American Islamic Congress, ADL, and First Parish Church

For more information, see <http://www.aicongress.org/pearl>